1 Introduction

Hermes is a web based reward system. This web service for students in this major provides them with the highest quality classroom resources and rewards outstanding resource providers (including virtual and physical rewards) based on user feedback. In this web, each user can upload and download resources, and like the good resources, and each user can get the corresponding points reward. Points can buy some goods in the mall. We hope that this web will encourage more students to organize and share classroom resources.
